

The research network for Linguistics in Cardiff is pleased to announce the 4th LinC

Summer School and Workshop
Cardiff Wales
August 31 – September 2, 2016

The summer school will offer two courses, each is described below. Both courses are suitable for professionals, students, and researchers who have an interest in learning more about Systemic Functional Linguistics and/or Translation/Typology. Open to all.

Our 2016 team of instructors includes:

Chris Taylor, Università di Trieste, Gerard O'Grady, Cardiff University, Gordon Tucker, Cardiff University, Jorge Arus Hita, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, Lise Fontaine, Cardiff University. Mick O'Donnell, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, Miriam Taverniers, Ghent University, Mohamed Bardi, Macquarie University, Robin Fawcett, Cardiff University, Stella Neumann, RWTH Aachen University, Tom Bartlett, Cardiff University, William McGregor, Universität Trier

Introduction to Systemic Functional Linguistics

- Experiential Meaning
- Interpersonal Meaning
- Textual Meaning
- The Noun Phrase and identifying groups and phrases
- Applying Systemic Functional Linguistics
- Using the CorpusTool for analysing language

Systemic Functional Linguistics and Languages other than English

- An SFL description of Arabic
- Audio Description – Textual access for the sensorially disabled
- Modelling lexis and phraseology in English, French and Italian
- Metafunctional journey through Spanish
- Issues in Translation
- Language Typology
- Modelling Japanese

Registration is now open.
Places on each course are limited.

For more information contact: linc-network@cf.ac.uk
<http://blogs.cardiff.ac.uk/linc/4th-linc-summer-school-and-workshop/>