Applied Linguistics and Professional Practice

LEARNING THROUGH
AND FOR PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE

10 – 13 September 2014
Geneva, Switzerland

CONFERENCE THEME

The conference aims to bring together scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds, especially language and communication research, and professional specialities (e.g., healthcare, social care, therapy, law, mediation, management, business, journalism, education). A special emphasis will be on cross-boundary collaboration and translation of research findings to ensure impact. ALAPP 2014 welcomes contributions on any topic linking professional practice with language and communication issues. The following topics will be of particular interest :

- Globalization, work and language learning
- Language and institutional demands in professional contexts
- Skills and competence development through language and communication
- Language, communication and workplace learning
- Linguistic and semiotic aspects of professional expertise
- Transitions from school and tertiary education to work
- Vocational learning, communities of practice and identity construction
- Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) at work and in vocational and professional education
- Language and reflexivity at work and in vocational and professional education
- Multimodality in professional practice and vocational learning
- Language, activity and development
