Friday, Feb. 21, at 4:30 PM CST via Zoom

In this informational session, we will discuss the following:

- Graduate programs and curriculum
- Opportunities to work closely with faculty as a research assistant during your first year
- Teach a language class during your second year
- Thesis and non-thesis options
- Prerequisites and the application process
- Fully funded opportunities, which include full tuition, a stipend, as well as access to money for conference travel
- Daily life of a graduate student and academic expectations

- Professional careers and job opportunities after completing the Master's
- Personal and professional support during your study

Join us to connect with professors and graduate students, explore our programs in greater depth and understand how an inspiring adventure at the University of Mississippi can shape your personal and professional life!
