CALL FOR PAPERS

The 13th International Conference on Historical Lexicography and Lexicology will be held on 27th-29th September 2023 at the University of Salerno/Fisciano, Italy (Università degli Studi di Salerno), and will be hosted by Rita Calabrese and Rossella Latorraca.

Submissions are invited for oral presentations on the theme "Lexical variation and change across cultures, time, and space", as well as on any topic of historical lexicology and lexicography.

Abstracts should be submitted electronically as an e-mail attachment to lvc@unisa.it and should contain no self-identification. The accompanying e-mail should include the author's name and institutional affiliation, and the title of the paper.

The language of the conference is English.

Contributions should focus on results from completed as well as ongoing research, with an emphasis on current approaches, methods, and perspectives, whether descriptive, theoretical, or corpus-based/applied.

CONFERENCE AIMS:

- to create a space for the discussion of new and ongoing research and projects on lexical variation and lexicography in synchronic and diachronic contexts of global movement and language contact
- to encourage interactions between researchers with different research perspectives and methodologies

Keynote speeches will be presented by leading scholars in historical linguistics, lexicography and lexicology as well as translation studies.
