

Announcing the 28th Annual
American Indian Language Development Institute
THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA,

Weaving Indigenous Voices: Telling Our Stories
June 4-June 29, 2007

The University of Arizona and Department of Language, Reading & Culture invite you to the 28th American Indian Language Development Institute (AILDI). AILDI 2007 will focus on a range of critical topics, including, grant-writing for Indigenous populations, advanced methods for language immersion teaching for endangered languages and skills in documenting Indigenous languages for the purpose of language revitalization. In addition the 2007 AILDI is collaborating with the UA Poetry Center in hosting a symposium: Native Voices with support from the National Endowment for the Arts. AILDI will have a special focus on Native poets, poetry readings, and writing. Our theme, Weaving Indigenous Voices: Telling our Stories reflects this emphasis and will be highlighted with guest speakers, panels, projects and films.

AILDI offers six graduate credits or undergraduate credit hours during four weeks of intensive study. Courses can be applied toward regular degree programs and teacher endorsements.

Course Titles

- Grant Writing for Indigenous Communities
- Linguistics for Native American Communities
- American Indian Language Immersion Level I
- American Indian Language Immersion Level II
- Language in Culture
- Creative Writing for Native American Communities
- Curriculum & Instruction in Bilingual & Second Language Setting
- Computer Applications for Language Teaching
- Ancient and Contemporary Voices
- Alternative Spaces for Revitalization: Indigenous Language and Identity in Film

Tuition for six (6) credit hours: $1537.00 (Undergraduate) $1753.00 (Graduate)

Financial assistance is available but is limited.

Extra Fees: $150-300

Note: Costs are approximate and are subject to change.
Please see website for further details.

On/Off campus housing is available.
Please see website for further details.

To receive an application please write, call or visit the AILDI website.

American Indian Language Development Institute
The University of Arizona
Department of Language, Reading & Culture
College of Education, Room 517
P.O. Box 210069
Tucson, AZ 85721-0069

Phone: (520) 621-1068
Fax: (520) 621-8174
Email: aildi@u.arizona.edu
Website: www.u.arizona.edu/~aildi

AILDI 2007 supporters: Language, Reading & Culture Department, College of Education, Linguistics Department, American Indian Studies, The Graduate College, Office of the Provost, Angels Care; A Fund of the McCormick Tribune Foundation, Desert Diamond Casino, Native American Student Affairs

American Indian Language Development Institute
The University of Arizona
Department of Language, Reading & Culture
P.O. Box 210069
Tucson, AZ 85721-0069

NON-PROFIT ORG.
US POSTAGE PAID
Tucson, AZ
Permit No. 190

The University of Arizona Poetry Center & AILDI are proud to announce the

Native Voices Symposium

with classes, workshops, readings, and panel discussions on Indigenous language and poetry

Keynote Speaker: Leslie Marmon Silko

author of Almanac of the Dead and Ceremony

June 14-16, 2007

on the University of Arizona campus

registration information forthcoming

for more information contact
Frances Sjoberg, Literary Director
(520) 626-1185
sjoberg@u.arizona.edu

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA®

POETRY CENTER

