THE AMERICAN INDIAN LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT INSTITUTE (AILDI) PRESENTS: TECHNOLOGY AND HANDS-ON APPROACHES TO INDIGENOUS LANGUAGE DOCUMENTATION

AILDI 2010

When: February 4-5th

Where: The University of Arizona
Friday Presentations: Agave Room on the 4th floor of the Student Union
Saturday Workshops: AME 314 the corner of Mountain Ave. and Speedway

http://www.u.arizona.edu/~aildi/

Celebrating over 30 years of Indigenous Language Education

AILDI

Intended audience: People interested in saving indigenous languages including language teachers, language students (junior high school and up), language advocates and language program administrators program administrators.

American Indian Development Institute:

Phone: (520) 621-1068
Fax: (520) 621-8174
E-mail: aildi@u.arizona.edu

Undergraduate Student Candace Campus Using her O'odham CD
Photo by Ofelia Zepeda

Did you know that you can create your own Native language lessons?

"We use our language in our everyday lives so why not through technology"

- U of A Graduate Student

Friday, February 4th 2011
Technology Presentations Agave Rm (SU)

8:00 am - 8:30am

Welcome

Registration Traditional AILDI Meet and Greet followed by a brief sign in period. Coffee will be provided.

9:00am-10:00am

Opening Talk

Phil Cash Cash Documentation of Indigenous Languages using media as a tool.

10:00am-12:15pm

Software and Indigenous

Language Documentation Panel

Mary Hermes Documentation and Teaching in Ojibwe using Grassroots Indigenous Multimedia—software designed to help youth recapture their heritage language.

Ellavina Perkins and Elizabeth Cook Navajo Rosetta Stone Group discusses the commercial use of language technology

Shannon Bischoff Archiving indigenous language and culture with a focus on individual community needs.

Susan Paskavan An overview of using interactive GPS technology to document Native Languages, stories, and culture.

1:15pm-3:45pm

Language Technology and Education Panel:

Stacey Oberly Using PowerPoint, and video technology for documenting and teaching indigenous language.

Graduate Student Language Video Expo: Former AILDI Students explain the process of creating videos to document their languages in video/film class.

Saturday, February 5th 2011
Hands-on Technology Workshops AME 314

8:00 am - 8:30am

Welcome

Registration Traditional AILDI Meet and Greet followed by a brief sign in period. Coffee will be provided.

8:30am-9:30am

*GEM Product Demonstration: Mary Hermes will help you apply your language materials to her software.

9:30am-10:45am

Navajo Rosetta Stone Demonstration Learn all about the New Navajo Rosetta Stone product and get the opportunity to use this software and learn how it can be applied to your language.

10:45-1200pm

Repositories Demonstration Basics in creating your own archive for language, culture, and stories with Shannon Bischoff.

1:00pm-2:15pm

*Ipod/ Iphone   Demonstration: Learn how to use your smart phone or Ipod to record, store, and self-teach your own language.

2:15pm-3;15pm

*Digital Dictionary Demonstration Creating your own native language digital dictionaries using family pictures and video.

Registration and Language Materials for Hands-on Technology Workshops

Park Ave. (Saturday Workshops)
Second Street Parking Garage (Friday Presentations)