Request for Proposal

Comprehensive Survey of U.S. Foreign Language Enrollments: K-12 and Higher Education

Application Guidelines

DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF PROPOSAL:

Thursday, March 20, 2014

SECTION 1: REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL OVERVIEW

The Institute of International Education (IIE), acting as the administrative agent of the National Security Education Program (NSEP) for The Language Flagship, seeks proposals from U.S. Institutions of Higher Education (IHEs) to develop and conduct a comprehensive survey of K-12 and Higher Education foreign language offerings and foreign language enrollments in the United States. This solicitation is open U.S. institutions of higher education (IHEs). IIE encourages applicants to partner with NGO's and associations involved in foreign language education.

THE LANGUAGE FLAGSHIP OVERVIEW

The Language Flagship is a partnership between the Department of Defense and Institutions of Higher Education with the mission of creating new models of language learning that produce college graduates with professional-level (Interagency Language Roundtable Level 3 (ILR 3) / American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages Superior level (ACTFL Superior)) proficiency in Arabic, Chinese, Hindi and Urdu, Korean, Persian, Portuguese, Russian, Swahili and Turkish. Flagship Programs set high expectations for participating students of all majors and provide the opportunity for these students to reach professional levels of proficiency in the target languages. All Flagship programs include rigorous language training and cultural immersion at overseas Flagship Centers.

The Flagship community is currently composed of 26 Flagship Programs at institutions of higher education and 10 Overseas Centers. The objectives of The Language Flagship are to:

- Establish programs for undergraduate students of all majors and disciplines that teach critical languages to the professional level (ILR 3, ACTFL Superior) and beyond during their course of study;
- Re-engineer existing language programs at all levels to provide students with opportunities and additional support for advanced language learning leading to professional-level proficiency;
- Promote and improve on teaching excellence in the target language;
- Stimulate institutional support and long-term commitment to reforming language learning;
- Articulate domestic programs of instruction with high-quality overseas study centers;
- Improve national capacity in critical languages

Foreign language enrollment data is needed for expansion of Flagship program recruitment and practices and for the expansion and dissemination of Flagship K-12 language initiatives. Comprehensive foreign language enrollment data is also needed to support planning and recruitment for National Security Education Program pipeline programs such as ROTC Project GO and other initiatives. Comprehensive survey data also supports the NSEP Board in its legislated mission to advance and advocate for improvement in U.S. foreign language education. The survey data is intended to be made publicly available to serve the interests of the field and the nation in improving foreign language education.

Through this solicitation, The Language Flagship is seeking applications to conduct a comprehensive survey of U.S. foreign language enrollments for both K-12 and higher education institutions. Flagship expects that the survey will capture information from both public and private schools and institutions as comprehensively as possible.

SECTION 2: PROPOSAL GUIDELINES

The project narrative should outline the general plan of work, including the design of the enrollment survey and plans to conduct the survey. Applicants are encouraged to provide a clear description of survey methods and procedures. Applicants must address roles and responsibilities, implementation plans, and plans for analysis of results. Project activities may be based on previously established methods and approaches or new ones, but proposals must clearly explain and justify methodology and implementation. Proposals must also present a review of previous efforts for gathering enrollment data and discuss how the proposed approach builds upon previous efforts.

The proposal must contain a discussion of the broader impacts of the survey and how they compare to prior enrollment research. The proposal narrative must also include clear plans for data management and sharing of research products nationally, including documentation, data and data-sets, and other related products.

The proposal must also contain recommendations for institutionalizing foreign language enrollment survey practices given the importance of collecting and maintaining clear enrollment data. The recommendations should address how an enrollment survey process can be institutionalized in the future on a sustainable and cooperative basis among stakeholders

PROJECT COLLABORATION

It is anticipated that no single institution or group has the resources or expertise to develop a comprehensive enrollment survey practice that encompasses both K-12 and higher education institutions. Therefore, applicants are encouraged to work collaboratively with expert partners from across the field.

A collaborative proposal is one in which representatives from two or more organizations (with an IHE as the lead) choose to collaborate on a unified project. Collaborative proposals must be submitted as a single proposal in which one award is being requested by a lead institution that will administer a subaward(s) to its partner(s). Collaborative proposals must clearly describe the role played by each partner organization, specify the managerial arrangements, and explain the advantages of the multi-organizational effort.

SCOPE OF PROJECT

Foreign language enrollment surveys have been conducted intermittently in the U.S. since 1958 for the higher education community, and since 1968 for the K-12 community. It is important that proposals reference and build on these prior surveys, and provide data that can be analyzed and compared with the results of those efforts. Proposals should describe how the new survey will build on prior data and improve methodology to expand data collection and analysis.

Proposals should address the scope of research, anticipated number of schools and institutions to be contacted, and how the applicant will use existing data collections to maximize the number of institutions responding to the data collection protocol.

There is no prohibition on using external organizations or professional companies to facilitate or conduct the data collection. However, a clear justification for selecting this option must be provided in the proposal and in the budget narrative. Any arrangement with a third-party organization must provide the assurance that the work is fee for service and that all rights to data materials created or data collected are retained by the successful applicant, IIE and NSEP.

SURVEY DESIGN

Applicants should clearly describe their proposed methodology for a comprehensive survey of enrollments in all elementary, secondary and higher education language offerings and language programs.

It is expected that any survey instrument for this project should:

- Include general information about the school or institution including name, type of school/institution (e.g., higher education, public/private, four-year institution; primary school, K-6; high school, 9-12; etc.),
- Be flexible enough to capture any foreign language of instruction
- Collect information on language offerings to include languages taught, enrollments by language, levels of instruction and basic information on curricula
- Collect information on the type of programs offered, including immersion programs at the K-12 level
- Collect information on the use of proficiency assessment tools used, including, but not limited to, standardized performance or proficiency portfolios or assessments rated on recognized rubrics.
- If possible, collect information on foreign language curricula and methodologies, teacher qualifications and training, and other relevant data.

Applicants may choose to include additional questions at their discretion.

The K-12 and higher education program protocols should use similar methodologies in their design. However, there is no requirement that the data collection protocol or instruments be the same. Specific information regarding the responsible parties for protocol instrument development must be provided.

The protocol should also be designed to show current patterns and shifts over time in foreign language enrollments and in the number of schools offering foreign languages.

The successful applicant will be required to present survey protocol instruments for review and discussion with IIE/NSEP before initiating the enrollment survey. Applicants should include a meeting to be held in Washington, DC for this purpose in both the timeline and budget of the proposal.

DATA COLLECTION

Applicants must provide a clear description of the proposed data collection protocol. Applicants may propose collection via mail, phone, web, or other technology and provide a justification for the best choice. Applicants must address estimated response rates and methods to elicit maximum response for most complete data.

SURVEY ANALYSIS

The primary purpose of the data analysis is to help inform, improve and increase academic language teaching in the United States. The results of this enrollment survey should present national, regional, state-by-state and individual school data. In the proposal narrative, the applicant must provide a statement on the broader impacts of the proposed research and the information that will become available as a result. This statement will include a description of the analysis team and methods to be employed.

The successful applicant will produce a final analysis that addresses the following:

- Languages taught
- Enrollments by language
- Existing language programs
- Availability of immersion programs
- Prevalence of courses and programs incorporating proficiency assessment tools

PROJECT OUTCOMES

The final enrollment survey report must include: 1) a comprehensive data analysis that includes all individual data points used to create the analysis and 2) a publishable report that includes a summative analysis of key relevant data. Applicants should present a plan to host key report data on a publicly available website. Finally, the successful applicant will provide a recommendations report that addresses the institutionalization of a sustainable enrollment survey practice for the foreign language field.

PROJECT TIMELINES

IIE intends to award a grant with the effective date of June 1, 2014. The proposal will address important outcomes and timetables for the period encompassing June 1, 2014 through May 31, 2015.

FUNDING

The following budget guidelines must be adhered to when developing the program budgets for the proposal. When developing the budget, best efforts should be made to include competitive costs and discounts, in order to best leverage federal dollars.
