Language and Neoliberal Governmentality

Edited by Luisa Martín Rojo, Universidad Autónoma, Spain and Alfonso Del Percio, University College London, UK

Series: Language, Society and Political Economy

Against a background of the ongoing crisis of global capitalism and the fracturing of the neoliberal project, this book provides a detailed account of the ways in which language is profoundly imbricated in the neoliberalising of the fabric of social life. With chapters from a cast list of international authorities, covering topics such as the commodification of education and language, unemployment and the governmentality of the self and discussion chapters from Monica Heller and Jackie Urla bringing the various strands together, the book ultimately helps us to understand how language is part of political economy and the everyday making and remaking of society.
