EXPLORING EQUITY AND METHODOLOGICAL ADVANCEMENTS TO TRANSFORM ACADEMIC DISCOURSE TEACHING AND RESEARCH

a conference co-sponsored by

The Department of Education of the School of Education & Information Studies (SEIS) and the SEIS Language, Literacy, & Learning Collaborative (LLLC)

NOVEMBER 3RD & 4TH, 2023
UCLA CAMPUS & VIRTUAL
VISIT LLLC.GSEIS.UCLA.EDU FOR REGISTRATION DETAILS

Conference registration is free. Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

Featuring paper sessions with:

Dr. Emily Phillips Galloway (Vanderbilt) & Dr. Paula Uccelli (Harvard)
Dr. Ramón Martínez (Stanford)
Dr. Julie Washington (UC Irvine) & Dr. Iheoma Iruka (UNC)
Dr. Ève Ryan (University of Alaska) & Giovanna Wilde (University of Alaska)
Dr. Scott Grapin (University of Miami) & Dr. Lorena Llosa (NYU)

Commentaries from researchers & practitioners:

Dr. Guadalupe Valdés (Stanford)
Dr. Kate Anderson (ASU)
Christine Butler (Shelton Public Schools)
Dr. Mikyung Wolf (ETS)
Dr. Richard Durán (UCSB)
Dr. Marjorie Orellana (UCLA)
Dr. Robin Danzak (Emerson College)
Dr. Teresa McCarty (UCLA) and more!

What to expect:

Two days of papers and commentary bringing together researchers and practitioners across the prek-16+ educational spectrum with a range of epistemologies and methodological approaches to address social, linguistic, and racial equity and the "gate-keeping" role of language as it functions in classrooms and academic accountability testing.

For more information contact:

Dr. Alison Bailey: (abailey@gseis.ucla.edu)

Dr. Inmaculada García Sánchez: (igarcias@gseis.ucla.edu)

Dr. Louise Wilkinson: (lwilkin@syr.edu)

UCLA | School of Education & Information Studies

LLLC_UCLA   lllc.gseis.ucla.edu