

BALTIC LINGUISTICS

We are happy to announce Baltic Linguistics, a new annual peer-reviewed journal welcoming submissions of theoretical or empirical interest focusing on the Baltic languages. Its thematic range encompasses both synchronic and diachronic research. The journal also publishes reviews of important publications in Baltic linguistics. Baltic Linguistics is published by the Chair of General Linguistics, East Asian Comparative Linguistics and Baltic Studies, Faculty of Polish Studies, University of Warsaw.

Editorial Team

JADWIGA LINDE-USIEKIEWICZ (editor in chief), AXEL HOLVOET (managing editor)
AGNIESZKA REMBIAŁKOWSKA (editorial secretary)

Editorial Board

PETER ARKADIEV (MOSCOW), LESZEK BEDNARCZUK (Cracow), RICK DERKSEN (Leiden), ROLANDAS MIKULSKAS (Vilnius), NICOLE NAU (Poznań), DANIEL PETIT (Paris),
WOJCIECH SMOCZYŃSKI (Cracow), BERNHARD WÄLCHLI (Bern)

Editorial Address

Uniwersytet Warszawski, Wydział Polonistyki, KJOWPiB
Krakowskie Przedmieście 26/28, PL-00-927 Warszawa
e-mail: kjob.polon@uw.edu.pl, axel.holvoet@uw.edu.pl

Call for contributions for Baltic Linguistics vol. 2 (2011)

Vol. 1 of Baltic Linguistics will appear towards the close of 2010.

The editors invite contributions of theoretical or empirical interest focusing on the Baltic languages, as well as reviews of important books in the field of Baltic linguistics, for publication in vol. 2 (2011).

Articles and reviews may be submitted in English, French, German and Russian. Apart from the requirements of quality, theoretical relevance and width of scope, there is no restriction on the subject-matter of submissions.

Please turn this sheet over for a list of the contents of vol. 1, 2010

Contents of Baltic Linguistics vol. 1, 2010

Articles

PETER ARKADIEV (Moscow),
Notes on the Lithuanian restrictive 9

INETA DABAŠINSKIENĖ (Kaunas),
The acquisition of compounds in Lithuanian 51

ANNA DAUGAVET (St Petersburg),
Syllable length in Latvian and Lithuanian: searching for the criteria 83

JAMES E. LAVINE (Pennsylvania),
Mood and a transitivity restriction in Lithuanian:
the case of the inferential evidential 115

DANIEL PETIT (Paris),
New insights on Lithuanian accentuation from the unpublished manuscripts of Ferdinand de Saussure (1857–1913) 143

LEA SAWICKI (Jerusalem),
Preverbatation and narrativity in Lithuanian 167

ILJA SERŽANT (Bergen),
Interferenzen auf dem Gebiet der Phonetik: Hochlettisch,
Nordost-Aukštaitisch, Nordwest-Russisch, Weißrussisch 193

BERNHARD WÄLCHLI (Bern),
The consonant template in synchrony and diachrony 215

BJÖRN WIEMER (Mainz),
Lithuanian esq — a heterosemic reportive marker in its contemporary stage 245

Reviews

Baltische Geräuschverben und Ideophone.
Eine Herausforderung für die Sprachtypologie.
(AINA MARITE URDZE, Ideophone in Europa. Die Grammatik der lettischen Geräuschverben, reviewed by BERNHARD WÄLCHLI) 309

