

After three years of exploration into the issues of Polycategoriality, the POLYCAT group is pleased to announce its closing conference. Our international group and researchers worldwide will reunite in Paris to present findings from diverse languages from Amerindian, African, Austronesian, Papuan, to Indo-European, in order to provide a comparative and pluridisciplinary approach to fundamental issues in polycategoriality. Presentations will reflect different theoretical positions within various linguistic fields : morphosyntax, semantics, cognition, language acquisition, anthropological linguistics, and more.

Questions addressed include:

- Are lexical forms always specified for category? If so, at what level of grammatical representation?
- Do levels of category specification vary across languages?
- What are the semantic correlates of category indeterminacy or flexibility?
- Is a category label part of the mental representation of roots or words?
- What kind of evidence does morphosyntactic development in language acquisition provide for the study of category determination? Is there significant variation across languages?
- What is the relation between category acquisition and the acquisition of ontological types of events and entities?
- Does polycategoriality facilitate or otherwise affect lexical productivity and creativity?

Invited Speakers

Ruth BERMAN, Tel Aviv University ■ Melissa BOWERMAN, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics ■ Denis CREISSELS, Université de Lyon II ■ Marianne MITHUN, University of California at Santa Barbara ■ Alain LEMARÉCHAL, Université de Paris VI ■ Eva SHULTZE-BERNDT, University of Manchester
■ Round Table: Elsa GOMEZ-IMBERT, Institut Français d'Études Andines ■ Harriet JISA, Laboratoire Dynamique du Langage, CNRS & Université Lyon II ■ Claire MOYSE-FAURIÉ, LACITO, CNRS & Sorbonne-Nouvelle, Paris III

POLYCAT Speakers

Cédric BECQUEY, LPP, CNRS & Université Sorbonne-Nouvelle
■ Richard CARTER, Institut Jean-Nicod, CNRS, EHESS & ENS ■ Bruna FRANCHETTO, Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro
■ Françoise KERLEROUX, MoDyCo, CNRS & Université de Paris Ouest ■ Alain KIHM, Laboratoire de Linguistique Formelle, CNRS & Université Paris-Diderot ■ Ximena LOIS, Institut Jean-Nicod, CNRS, EHESS & ENS ■ Barbara PFEILER, Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México ■ Marcia HAAG, Oklahoma University ■ Francesca MERLAN, Australian National University ■ Aurore MONOD BECQUELIN, LESC, CNRS & Université de Paris Ouest
■ Christophe PARISSÉ, MoDyCo, CNRS & Université de Paris Ouest ■ Mara SANTOS, Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro ■ Valentina VAPNARSKY, LESC, CNRS & Université de Paris Ouest
■ Edy VENEZIANO, Université Paris Descartes, MoDyCo, CNRS

■ Responsible

Valentina Vapnarsky (vapnarsk@vjf.cnrs.fr)

■ Contacts

Neiloufar Family (neiloufar@gmail.com),
Bonnie Chaumeil (chaumeil@vjf.cnrs.fr)

How flexible ARE LEXICAL CATEGORIES?

OCTOBER 4-6, 2010
Salle Dussane
École Normale Supérieure
45 rue d'Ulm, 75005 Paris

© Illustration : Alessandro Pignocchi - Graphisme : Didier Muller

Sponsored by the Agence Nationale de la Recherche, France

Monday, October 4th

9h00-9h30 Welcome and Registration
9h30-10h00 Introduction
10h00-11h15 Marcia HAAG - Can Roots be Polycategorical?
The Case for the Number Two

11h15-11h30 Coffee

11h30-12h45 Mara SANTOS & Bruna FRANCHETTO - The Emergence of Nouns and Verbs in Kuikuro Language and Children's Speech

12h45-14h00 Lunch

14h00-15h15 Ximena LOIS, Valentina VAPNARSKY, Cedric BECQUEY & Aurore MONOD BECQUELIN - Polycategoriality across Mayan Languages: Action Nouns and Ergative Splits

15h15-16h30 Barbara PFEILER - Acquisition and Comprehension of Nouns and Verbs in Yucatec Maya

16h30-16h45 Coffee

16h45-18h00 Marianne MITHUN - Conversion and Polycategoriality: Categorical Distinction or Cline of Productivity?

18h00-19h30 Welcome Cocktail

Tuesday, October 5th

9h00-10h15 Alain KIHM - Categoriality as an Interface Phenomenon: a Comparison of Arabic, French, and Wolof
10h15-11h30 Denis CREISSELS - The Flexibility of Lexical Categories in Mandinka (Mande)

11h30-11h45 Coffee

11h45-13h00 Alain LEMARÉCHAL - Typologie et Abstraction: le Cas de la Polycatégorialité

13h00-14h30 Lunch

14h30-15h45 Françoise KERLEROUX - Catégories Lexicales et Programmes Morphologiques
15h45-17h00 Christophe PARISSÉ & Edy VENEZIANO - The Emergence of Noun and Verb Categories in the Acquisition of French: Evidence from Production and Comprehension

17h00-17h15 Coffee

17h15-18h30 Ruth BERMAN - Acquisition of Word Classes: Hebrew-Based and Cross-linguistic Perspectives

Wednesday, October 6th

9h30-10h45 Francesca MERLAN - Child Language Acquisition and Categoriality: Evidence from Ku Waru, Western Highlands, Papua New Guinea

10h45-11h00 Coffee

11h00-12h15 Eva SCHULTZE-BERNDT - The Curious Case of Nonverbal "verbs": on the Multifunctionality of an Open-class Category in Northern Australian Languages with Closed Verb Classes

12h15-14h00 Lunch

14h00-15h15 Melissa BOWERMAN - Discussion on Language Acquisition
15h15-16h30 Richard CARTER - What Have We Learned, and What Do We Need to Do to Learn More about Lexical Categories?

16h30-16h45 Coffee

16h45-18h30 Round Table
Claire MOYSE-FAURIÉ, Elsa GOMEZ-IMBERT, Harriet JISA and participants

HOW FLEXIBLE ARE LEXICAL CATEGORIES?