

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA CRUZ

LINGUISTICS

ASSISTANT or ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

The Department of Linguistics at the University of California, Santa Cruz announces the opening of a tenure-track/tenured position. The position can be filled at any rank up to the mid-Associate Professor level (with tenure). The department is seeking applications from candidates whose primary research area is formal syntax.

The successful candidate will contribute to existing strengths in the department but will also add to those strengths in new and substantive ways. He or she will also contribute breadth and depth to the undergraduate and graduate curricula.

The department has Ph.D. and M.A. programs in theoretical linguistics focused on semantics, phonology, and syntax, with a growing strength in experimental methodologies. It also sponsors two undergraduate majors. Further information about the department, its faculty, students, and programs is available at <http://ling.ucsc.edu> and at <http://lrc.ucsc.edu>. The campus is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through their research, teaching, and service.
