

ICSTLL53

International Conference on Sino-Tibetan Languages and Linguistics

The International Conference on Sino-Tibetan Languages and Linguistics (ICSTLL) is the premier meeting for linguistic researchers on Sino-Tibetan language family, a family with over 400 languages and second only to IndoEuropean in numbers of speakers worldwide. ICSTLL has been held in 13 different countries. Twenty-four of the meetings have been held in the United States with the first meeting taking place at Yale in 1968.

ICSTLL 53 will be hosted via ZOOM by the University of North Texas, October 2 - 4, 2020 with a pre-conference meeting of the Computational Resource for South Asian Languages on October 1st from 4:00 pm - 10:00 pm. (Central Standard Time)

WHEN

October 1, 2020

*Pre-conference CoRSAL
Workshop on Legacy Materials*

October 2-4, 2020

Main Conference

WHERE

REGISTER/PROGRAM

icstll.ci.unt.edu