

BRILL

■ BRILL ■ BÖHLAU ■ FINK ■ MENTIS ■ NIJHOFF ■ SCHÖNINGH ■ VANDENHOECK & RUPRECHT ■ V&R UNIPRESS ■ WAGENINGEN ACADEMIC

Endangered and Marginalized Languages in East and Southeast Asia

Volume Editors: Shoichi Iwasaki and William O'Grady

East and Southeast Asia are home to remarkable linguistic diversity, yet this diversity is increasingly under threat as political, economic, cultural, and other social transformations reshape the region. This volume brings together two introductory chapters and ten country-focused studies—covering Korea, Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Thailand, the Philippines, Singapore, and Indonesia—to identify patterns of language endangerment and marginalization, and to showcase ongoing revitalization efforts. A distinctive feature of the book is its use of Lee and Van Way's (2016) Language Endangerment Index (LEI), which provides a common framework for balanced comparison across the communities examined.

Language: English

Publisher: Brill

Series:

Endangered and Lesser-Studied Languages and Dialects, Volume: 6

E-Book (PDF)

Publication: 24 Sep 2026

ISBN: 978-90-04-76571-9

Open Access

Hardback

Publication: 15 Oct 2026

ISBN: 978-90-04-75817-9

 €110.00

Subjects

Languages and Linguistics
Language Documentation & Description
(Grammars)
Language Endangerment & Language Policy

Biographical Note

Shoichi Iwasaki, Ph.D. (1988), UCLA, is Professor Emeritus of Asian Languages & Cultures, UCLA. He has published monographs and many articles on Asian linguistics covering Japanese, Thai and Ryukyuan. His monograph includes A Reference Grammar of Thai (Cambridge University Press, 2005).

William O'Grady, PhD (1978), University of Chicago, is a Professor of Linguistics at the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa. He has published widely on a variety of topics, including syntax, language acquisition, language revitalization, and Jejueo, an endangered language in Korea.

Readership

Researchers of endangered languages, whether specialists in Asia or not;
Graduate students at various stages of study; Any organization that is interested in the issue of language endangerment.

For more information see brill.com

Order information: Order online at brill.com
+44 330 333 0049 | customerservices@brill.com
Submission information: brill.com/authors

Titles published by Brill | Fink, Brill | mentis or Brill | Schöningh:
+49(0)71 54 13 27 9216 | brill@brocom.de